

Home Corner

Date: 03.03.2023

In home corner this week, a "tea party" was set up. Melissa mentioned that she had a tea party with her sister at her cousins house over the weekend. When Melissa came in to the centre and saw the "tea party" set up she was so excited. "A tea party! I can't wait to play". Melissa called her sister over. "Cmon, lets play tea party. You can wear the white hat and I'll wear the pink one". Melissa put the hat on and gathered some of the stuffed toys and began to play with her sister. Some of the other girls also joined in by dressing up and having a tea party together.

Pretend play is very important for children's development and learning. In the house corner children can take on and try out roles from familiar family scenes, local community's experiences and imaginative fantasies.
